

How Does it Work?

The American Dream Program is based on the proven "Six Steps To Selling A House" that has been used all over America to get homes sold quickly and for the most money the market will pay.

The Six Steps will make your house the most desirable on the market and will get more buyer's interest than any other program in real estate today.

The ADP is done in conjunction with the purchase of your new house and we work closely with the builder to make sure both transactions go smoothly and in a timely manner.

American Dream Program

Before you go any further be sure to read this.

One very important aspect of our program is getting you ready to sell your house. You will note that I continually refer to your house and not your home. A home is where you make memories and share feelings and emotions with your family. A house just happens to be the building you live in. You have to realize that you are selling a house and not your home. This is just a business transaction, plain and simple. You have something to sell and you want it sold quickly and for the most money the market will allow.

By always remembering this you will keep the emotions out of the transaction and be able to move through the process with a lot less stress.
